Excerpts from Denise's blog – see more at www.keepupwithdenise.blogspot.com

Well I'm here! It is hard to believe after all the planning that I am actually in Port Au Prince. The trip went smoothly and I arrived pretty close to schedule. Oge, the Dean of the seminary met me at the airport, thank God. I will never complain about driving in DC again, it is insane here. I am not sure if there is a side of the road; streets are narrow, two way traffic and people walking. I can't believe we didn't hit anyone! At one point there was a police SUV turning onto the street we were traveling and our driver just laid on the horn and swerved around him. My apartment mate's name is Denise and her English is not much better than my Creole so this should be interesting!

Today I went to church at the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity. Their building was destroyed in the earthquake so they worship outside under a pavilion. These truly are wonderful people; warm, gracious, generous and quick to smile and laugh. The city is crazy; dirty, lots of rubble and trash on the sides of the roadways, driving or riding in a car is taking a chance with your life! But I don't think walking is much safer as we almost hit a young man on our way home from church.

It appears that the first missionary to Haiti to plant Episcopal Churches believed that for every church planted there needed to be a school built. Consequently there are over 250 Episcopal schools. The one I visited today is in what Oge called a slum. Now keep in mind that I would have described all I had seen of Port Au Prince as a slum. I couldn't even imagine what this would be like. I have never seen anything like it and I don't know if I can describe it. People, cars, buses they call "tap taps", school buses, trash, rubble, vendors, and buildings in ruin; it was just crazy! When we arrived at the school, Jean Fils Chery, the priest of the church and school who brought me there, had to call on his cell phone for them to open the locked gate for us. Behind the gate was a church, now unsafe to use because of the earthquake, and a building used as the school and worship space. It had been a convent at one time, a very old, concrete structure. There are 300 students at the school and over 1000 members in the church (400 on a Sunday). The classrooms have no doors or windows so the noise is incredible. When we walked into each class the children all stood up and in unison all greeted the priest and stood until he told them to sit. They are beautiful children; smiling, laughing, learning. It was almost easy to forget what was outside the gate. Jean Fils told me how most of the children come to school without eating and they have no facility or food to feed them.

Last night was my first class. I am teaching homiletics (preaching). It was really interesting as I had to speak slowly and wait for the student who was translating to translate each sentence or sometimes a few words. It does give one time to think about what you are going to say next rather than just rambling on. We started by telling our stories; how we got to seminary; what our call journey was. They had never told their stories like that before which I found interesting since when I was in seminary I got tired of telling mine we did it so often. Their stories were humbling. They spoke of writing the Commission on Ministry and waiting 6 years to hear back that they could go to seminary!

Coffee, coffee, coffee! I had my first cup of coffee since arriving in Haiti as we had power this morning and the cook made a pot. It is dark and thick and strong but surprisingly good. I am a cream and sweet'n'low girl. But with a very little of their natural sugar, no cream (I have not see milk at all), it was very good. I was very grateful but then worried that they used some of their food money to purchase it for me. Some of the seminarians drank some, but they got it because I mentioned that I missed it. That is how they are, very thoughtful and generous!

A MESSAGE FROM THE SENIOR WARDEN

Happy Spring Everyone!

Time is moving so fast. It seems like it was only a short while ago when Reverend Denise spoke with the Vestry about the possibility of her using her Sabbatical time and like only last week when we met with the congregation to ask for their support. And, wasn't it just yesterday when we all screamed with delight after finding out that Denise had received her grant? I remember thinking that we had plenty of time to arrange everything and, in the blink of an eye, the time came for our renewal period. At the time of this printing, Denise will have been gone for five weeks.

Our renewal kick-off (or Denise's going away party) was great. I think that we really showed Denise how much we love and care for her and how much we support her sabbatical. I also really enjoyed Reverend Desir's visit last week and his message about Haiti. It was a pleasure to meet him and his wife.

Reverend Clay has been wonderful with his sermons on God's gifts. We are very blessed to have him.

I hope that everyone is reading Reverend Denise's blog. I look forward to her updates. It's like a book that you can't put down. Her experiences are both exciting and heartwarming.

So, what's next on the agenda for our renewal period? It's our retreat to be conducted by Patience Robbins from the Shalem Institute. She will host a retreat at St. James' on April 21, from 10:00 a.m. 4:00 p.m. Her topic will be "Seeing Anew: Finding God in All of Life."

I'm really enjoying the renewal journey thus far, and I'm looking forward to everything else that is to come. I hope that you are too.

O God, open our eyes to wider horizons than we have imagined.
Unstop our ears to hear your voice
in unexpected places,
enlighten our hearts to know your presence,
and grant us to find you everywhere
and in all your children.

(Taken from the Lenten Meditations- Episcopal Relief & Development)

Blessings,
Sheila

Finding God in All of Life

Saturday, April 21, 2012

10:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

St. James' Parish Hall

This day will be a time to deepen and renew one's relationship with God. There will be guided prayer together, time alone in silence for prayer and reflection, and some small and large group sharing.

During the day, we will reflect on the question: Where is God in my life? We will take time to notice how God is showing up in our lives - even in the disappointments, challenges, and the twists and turns of our lives. We will spend time noticing and appreciating how God is present, active and loving. "And their eyes were opened and they recognized him ..." Luke 24:33

Breakfast and Lunch will be Served.
PLEASE SIGN UP BY APRIL 15, 2012

Happy spring! I sure hope the pollen/allergies aren't too bad for everyone. Remember "this too shall pass".

I think the first month of our journey while Denise is on sabbatical has gone very well. No big complaints and we are getting things done. Thanks to all.

As always, let me hear from you if there's something I need to take care of.

Happy Easter!

In Christ's love,
Adah

Welcome Back

We welcome back Julie Bivens as the St. James' organist and look forward to her association with our Parish family. Julie has been the organist at St. James' on an as needed basis for the past 30 years.

There will be an Easter Egg Hunt on Easter Sunday immediately following the 9:15 a.m. service. Kids in grades pre-school through 5 will find eggs that are hidden by the kids in grades 6-12. After the Easter egg hunt, there will be refreshments for the kids.
